AUGUST BELMONT'S COLT RAN WELL

SOME OF THE JOCKEYS RODE STRANGELY with bulging pockets yesterday. Last night they were ordering baskets and drinking bumpers to Bird coler and Bird Gardiner, with woodcocks and qualis and English pheasants on the side. It was a succulent afternoon and an epicurean evening for the worthy and deserving mathematicians who ply their busy pencils under the grandstand at the end of the Annexed District troiley. Every layer of odds in the Greater New-York was wearing a wide, fat, greaxy smile last night, and no one of them will clamp his grin for many an hour to come. Few speculative carnivals since George the Fourth cas ruled off the English turf have enriched the tidustrious and diligent complets of chances as prodigally as they were enriched by the results of the spins of Saturders complets, and the trans-Harlem track.

This is the frozen, toy, solid No joking in this matter. Just hard, uncorated verity. Eternal verity. Perhaps this owner was mistaken. Perhaps it was too late to change. Perhaps the jockey had not been drinking or "hitting the pipe," or using cocaine, or some other brain-paralyzing drug. Whether the owner was in error or not, it is sure that the lockey rode more than one race yesterday, and that in every race in which he rode he handled his mount as if he (the rider), were under a stupefying speil, "Dope" for horses is strictly forbidden by the Rules of Racina. Dire are the nenalities with which those rules menace the villain who would dare to "dope" a horse. What is the punishment if a miscreant is vile enough to "dope" a lockey? TO CURE NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

To Gain Flesh, to Sleep Well, to Know What Appetite and Good Digestion Menn. Make a Test of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets-Interesting Experience of an Indianapolis

Gentleman.

No trouble is more common or more misun-

No trauble is more common or more misunderstood than nervous dyspepsia. People having it think that their nerves are to blame and are surprised that they are not cured by nerve medicine and spring remedies; the real seat of the mischief is lost sight of: the stomach is the crean to be looked after. Nervous dyspepties often do not have any pain whatever in the stomach, nor perhaps any of the usual symptoms of stomach weakness. Nervous dyspepsia shows itself not in the stomach so much as in nearly every other organ; in some cases the heart palpitates and is irregular. In others, the kidneys are affected; in others, the bowels are 'onstipated, with headaches; still others are troubled with loss of appetite, with accumulation of gas, sour risings and heart-actumulation of gas, sour risings and heartburn.

Mr. A. W. Sharper, of No. 61 Prospect St., Indianapolis, Ind., writes as follows: "A motive of pure gratitude prompts me to write these few lines regarding the new and valuable medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I have been a sufferer from nervous dyspepsia for the last four vears; have used various patent medicines and other remedies without any favorable result.
They sometimes gave temporary relief until the effects of the medicine wore off. I attributed this to my sedentary habits, being a bookkeeper with little physical exercise, but I am glad to estate that the tablets have overcome all these obstacles, for I have gained in flesh, sieep better and am better in every way. The above is written not for notoriety, but is based on actual fact."

It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tabets will cure any stomach weakness or disease except cancer of stomach. They cure sour stomach, gas, loss of flesh and appetite, sleeplessness, palpitation, heartburn, constipation and headache.

in the fourth. His riding in all four races was of a sort to create consernation among the backers of his mounts. A pania terror caused the hearts of strong men to sink within them as they saw Thorpe practising Oriental magic with his mounts. Wise men who have gazed coldly and calmly upon hundreds of infiling turf battles in past seasons clutched their throats frantically to choke down furious oaths as their frenzied eves took in the full significance of Thorpe's Eleusinian antics. "What can be the matter with that boy?" they gasped. "Is he trying to fit himself for a job under Asa Bird Gardiner?" was the question that came numbling out over their white lips from their convulsed throats and stumbling tongues. Some day the bookmakers may collect money to set up a bronze statue of their favorite lockey, as the Tammany theves collected checks for a magnificent bronze statue of the sainted Tweed in 1870. Some people think that when a bronze statue is set up in the betting-ring. Thorpe will be asked to sit to a sculptor or a barke-eper, it is not quite certain which.

So much miserably inefficient and bungling lockeyship in a single afternoon has rarely been seen at any tace rack on earth as was seen at Morris Park yesterday. Hewitt's riding of Rondo in the fourth tace was ghastly and ghostly. So was that of O'Leary on the favorite, Hugh Penny, in the fifth race. So was that of Mara on the favorite, Flushing, in the steeplechase. Flushing was bought by M. F. Dwyer yesterday and ran in M. F. Dwyer's name and colors. Mr. Dwyer backed Flushing heavily, but Mara rode the horse weakly and weirdly and wildly.
